President’s Message

I would like to thank Moe Goldy for talking about his unbelievable trip to the far east and China’s Watches and Clocks.

Our emphasis in Chapter 60 is to provide the best educational programs to our members and guests in the field of horology. We have outlined the above programs to include varied areas of interest in wrist watches, clocks, and repair. If there are any specific programs you would like us to present, or programs you would like to speak about, please let us know.

I encourage you to go on-line to the new improved website of the NAWCC (www.nawcc.org) The Association is making great advances in providing on-line information to its members. I believe you will find it most interesting. National is having a member-ship drive and the prizes are outstanding. There is also a link to the new Time in Office: Presidential Timepieces Exhibit with an interactive slideshow of many of the exhibit pieces. In addition, a preview of the upcoming Time & Exploration: Earth, Sea & Space Exhibit can be found on the website. Objects include items from the National Air & Space Museum, NASA, and other renowned museums collaborating to bring together an outstanding exhibit.
