=== Saturday, February 17, 2018 ===
 Freedom Plains Presbyterian Church
 1168 Route 55, Lagrangeville, NY 12540

Again this year we had a great December Holiday Party ... visiting with friends, talking clocks and eating great food (ooh that cake!). But this year was special in that we recognized Aubrey Kinney and Joe Woleader for their many devoted years to spreading the gospel of clock collecting and repair. They have both given so much of themselves to all of us. Thanks guys! During our brief annual meeting we reelected all officers and directors, plus we officially voted in Chuck Montrose as a director (though he had always been defacto). And thanks to those involved in making the party possible, including John Greeney, Chuck and Gail Montrose, Mark Nathanson, and, as always, Bill Clarke for his tireless coordinating work.

As you put your new calendar up on the wall, be sure to include our February 17 "Workshop" Meeting. Bill Clarke will be designing a digital clock that can also be read at night. Specs: The clock must large enough to see and must dim at night to allow sleep (as well as keeping accurate time). Bill will work though the details of keeping time, displaying time, setting the time (including DST), adjusting the rate as well as the mechanicals. Mike Graham will take us through assembling and replacing a 400-day suspension spring, using the Horolover manual and assorted alignment techniques. Paul Nicholson will show us how to create parts on a wood lathe. And, as a bonus, we may have a special visitor who will take us through one of his popular demos. This workshop promises to be a real learning experience.

As a reminder, the winter semester for the clock classes is starting on January 18. If you haven't taken the beginner's class taught by Bill Clarke, I highly recommend it. And the advanced class, overseen by Mike Graham and myself, is a bunch of guys (and gals) getting together as we work on our favorite clock projects ... so come and have fun and make good friends. Go to the Wappingers Central School District website: www.wappingersschools.org, click on the continuing education icon on the red bar at the middle of the page, and then click on the Winter/Spring 2018 Continuing Ed Class Listing line. Also, as a reminder, be sure to send in your $10 yearly fee to Bill Clark if you haven't done this yet.

See you on February 17!

Jim
